

Industry Invitation

TEDxSydney 2017 is targeting brilliant filmmakers and creatives to create unique short films to be screened as part of the TEDxSydney 2017 film program.

Taking place on 16 June 2017, TEDxSydney is one of the biggest TEDx events globally, and last year was seen by over 140,000 people via the main event, livestream and satellite event program. Plans are underway to make next year the largest live TEDxSydney event to date.

TEDxSydney films are seen by vast numbers of like-minded creatives. They have been viewed millions of times online, programmed in other prestigious film festivals and won major international awards.

TEDx Sydney 2017

The theme for 2017 is “Unconventional” which you can interpret as closely or as loosely as you wish. Films must be between 1-3 minutes in duration and if selected will screen at TEDxSydney 2017.

If you have a film that is close to completion and it fits the theme, then we’d also love to hear from you about a potential Australian premiere at TEDxSydney 2017.

To submit, please use the short online form at tedxsydney.com/filmprogram2017. Submissions close on 3 February 2017.

For more information about TEDxSydney’s film program and to read through FAQs visit tedxsydney.com/filmprogram2017

EOI for 2017 Film Program